Hawker Beechcraft Corporation Expands Sales and Service Presence in India

PARIS, France (June 19, 2007) – Hawker Beechcraft Corporation (HBC) is pleased to announce that they have reached an agreement with InterGlobe General Aviation Private Limited, a subsidiary of InterGlobe Enterprises, to provide sales and service support in India by appointing them as its exclusive representative for its Hawker products (Hawker 400XP; the Hawker 125-series including the Hawker 750, Hawker 850XP and Hawker 900XP; and Hawker 4000 model aircraft) in India, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Maldives and Myanmar, effective July 1, 2007.

“InterGlobe is a leading integrated travel and technology company with a long history of delivering superior services to the Indian market,” said Ted Farid, vice president of New Business Development for Hawker Beechcraft Corporation. “Their experience with several major international airlines and the fact that InterGlobe owns India’s fastest growing low fares carrier IndiGo, makes them uniquely qualified to support our efforts to further expand our presence in the Indian subcontinent.”

“HBC has historically held about 60 percent market share of turbine business aircraft in the Indian market,” said Jim Schuster, Hawker Beechcraft Corporation chairman and CEO. “We wanted to be partnered with the right people in India who share our customer-focused values and have the right presence, access and capital to help us expand our footprint and grow our market share. As the interest in general aviation continues to accelerate, we are also committed to growth in the region. We have found exactly the right partners in InterGlobe.”

In the presence of Indian Civil Aviation Minister, Mr. Praful Patel, Rahul Bhatia, group managing director of InterGlobe Enterprises said, “Hawker Beechcraft is a name that has meant quality and reliability in the field of general aviation for many years. We at InterGlobe are proud to be associated with this name and are extremely excited to be the face of HBC in this region.” He added: “InterGlobe has built a reputation of delivering world-class products and services and our foray into the world of general aviation will be no different. Our aim is to not only grow the general aviation market in this region, but also deliver a best-in-class service center for our valued customers.”

InterGlobe’s Chairman, Kapil Bhatia, said in a message from India, “I am confident of the success of this new business as it provides us with the ideal opportunity to combine our decades of experience in sales and support with our knowledge of the world of aviation.”
