

Hawker Beechcraft Corporation designs, builds and services the world's finest business and general aviation, special mission and trainer aircraft. Our core objective is to create customers for life by delivering aircraft that excel in both quality and safety, while offering an overall value proposition that is unmatched in our industry.

Because our customers deserve nothing less, we are committed to providing unsurpassed customer service -- a commitment we honor every moment of every day with the largest factory-owned customer support network in the industry and a dedication to pleasing our customers that is backed by all HBC employees worldwide.

The relationships we have with our key suppliers and partners are critical to our future, and we count on them to deliver on our commitments to our customers. We encourage and promote the development of new businesses, particularly those that complement our goal of building and maintaining a diverse supplier base.

Specific questions regarding supplier diversity should be directed to the Supplier Diversity Program Administrator, Bonnie Fullinwider, within the Supply Chain Management Organization.
